Sale Of Properties - Transferring Direct Debits

Direct debit agreements are property-specific and cannot be transferred to other properties. If you move or sell house, you will need to cancel your existing agreement and complete a new direct debit agreement form. You will need to notify your lawyer as well as we cannot action the new agreement until we are formally notified of the change of ownership.

New Properties Created Through Subdivision

If you have a direct debit agreement operating on the property you are subdividing, once new titles have been issued a new valuation reference will be created for the new allotments. You will need to complete a new form for any new properties as these will not be automatically added and you will not be notified that these accounts are not on direct debit.

Changing Bank Account Details

A new form needs to be completed each time there is a change to the bank account whether it is a complete change of account or just a suffix. Contact us with the new details, and we will complete the form and send it out for you to sign and return. Please note, all new forms must be returned to us, not your bank. If you have returned your form to your bank, please contact them and ask them to forward to Council for actioning.
